Wave Calmed To Ripple As Clemson Wins 47-20

Clemson presented its sharpest offense in a victory as they thoroughly wamped the favored Green Wave 47-20 in the Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans. From the first of the game with the exception of a short time in the second quarter to the end the game was all Clemson. Cagle kicked off for Clemson to open the game. Tom failed to gain in three downs, and in the fourth Freeman and Sully blocked the kick and Camp Clark reversed the tide. Three line plays by Butler and Reynolds, and a fourth down pass kicked...

"Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friends." To the sons of Clemson who lost their lives in effort to win a war for democracy, we dedicate this the 1947 TAPS. Our hearts are filled with reverence as we seek an appropriate tribute to their great sacrifice.

We hallow the pathways by which these men moulded their lives at Clemson as we vividly recall their friendships and smiling faces. Theirs is the power and the glory, for they were peaceful men, wanting for themselves only an opportunity to cultivate and prove their love for treasured rights, those of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness . . . Dreams blackened with the sin of war. And there came a call for these men to take up arms in defense of these rights. They fought as our heroes and died while fighting for us. Now they live as immortals as we strive to pay our bit of gratitude in dedicating a mere yearbook to their memory.

FOREWORD

WHEN SHADOWS FALL AND THE GALLANT NOTES OF TAPS ARE BLOWN ON A SUNDAY IN JUNE, APPROXIMATELY FOUR HUNDRED SENIORS SHALL HAVE RECEIVED THEIR LONG-AWAITED DEGREES. MANY HOURS OF INTENSIVE STUDY SHALL HAVE MANIFESTED THEMSELVES AS EDUCATIVE NOTES IN THE MINDS OF THOSE WHO HAVE ATTAINED THIS HONOR. TOO, A TAPS SHALL HAVE ENCOMPASSED THEIR LIVES AT CLEMSON WITHIN THE SMALL LIMITS OF ITS COVERS. A TAPS WHICH SHALL IN FUTURE YEARS OBTAIN RECOGNITION AS THE FIRST POST WAR ANNUAL PUBLICATION AT CLEMSON. WE, THE MEMBERS OF THE 1947 STAFF, HAVE SPENT MUCH TIME IN PERFECTING OUR MANY MISTAKES AND OUR ONLY HOPE IS THAT YOU, OUR READERS, WILL ACCEPT IT IN THE CAPACITY IN WHICH WE ENDEAVORED TO PUBLISH IT, A TOKEN OF OUR MEMORIES OF LIFE AT CLEMSON.

THE HISTORY OF OUR STAFF IS ONE OF RARE OCCURRENCE. MANY CHANGES HAVE BEEN MADE AND MANY GIANT OBSTACLES HAVE BEEN OVERCOME. INCREASED HEADACHES RESULTING FROM RISE IN COST OF MATERIALS, SCARCITY OF THESE PRODUCTS AND OTHER BARRIERS HAVE THWARTED OUR PROGRESS. STILL WE CONTINUED TO WORK AND WITH ONE MOTIVE, TO PUBLISH FOR YOU A SYNOPSIS OF YOUR AND OUR LIFE AT CLEMSON. WE HOPE THAT YOU MAY ENJOY ITS CONTENTS AND THAT THIS TAPS SHALL GO DOWN IN YOUR LITTLE BOOKS AS THE BEST EVER AT CLEMSON.

Students are housed in every available nook and corner on the campus this year, but the cadets and a vast majority of veterans still live in the regular college barracks. During a four-year course a student lives in nearly every one of the eight barracks and the "barn."

The pre-fabricated houses, a wartime addition to Clemson, are dual housing units, designed for two married students and their families.

RATION

THE PRESIDENT

DR. R. F. POOLE

An every day counsel to clear our minds of many worries. A man who is never too busy to handle our problems, never too busy to talk to us, and never too busy to do something for Clemson.

Thus we, the students of the senior class, do pay honest tribute to our President, Dr. Robert Franklin Poole.

Dr. Poole came here in nineteen-forty upon the death of the memorable Dr. Sikes. Since, he has spent many hours of endless toil in coordinating and formulating plans for a better Clemson. His ever-helpful hand reaches far in an earnest effort to make a great Clemson greater.

As an educator, as an executive, as an advisor, as a friend . . . in every way he is tops with us.

THE BUSINESS MANAGER

MR. J. C. LITTLEJOHN

A true friend, advisor, and certainly a perfected master of his trade is our Business Manager, Mr. J. C. Littlejohn. A great help in the publication of Taps, he is always at the service of any student who seeks his advice.

As business manager, his every effort is concerned primarily with handling the finances in a way which is for the betterment of Clemson. Many years of service are indicative of the fact that he is well-liked among fellow workers of the administration. Too, honorary membership in Blue Key, Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Kappa Phi is only a sample of the high esteem in which he is held among students.

Hamilton Hill, director of student activities, assistant to the business manager, and master of the art of student psychology. You never see him, but he is always there, working diligently in coordinating all phases of student activity and carrying out his duties as right-hand man to the business manager.

Bobbing in and out of the various offices in Tillman Hall, Mr. Hill always has a genial word for everyone; thus he, too, is a true friend of the students.

MR. DAVE WATSON

Desks, chairs, locks, lockers, tables, and many other products of the human hand originate at Clemson in the maintenance department. There we have a likable and friendly man, Mr. Dave Watson. His job is not only to supervise the production of various articles of furniture and the like for the college, but also to supervise the beautification of our campus.

A tremendous job well done deserves plenty of favorable comment.

THE VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION

Two thousand veterans of a world war tread the Clemson campus as each day goes by—men who are being sent to school by the United States Government—some under public law 16, and others under public law 347. These men must be supervised as each month rolls by and they also must be administered to. For this function, the college has established a veterans' administration body for Clemson. This body submits monthly reports of veteran students, helps these students with their problems, and performs a large number of other services which are helpful to them.

Established in the spring of 1946, this advisory board had rapidly expanded its sphere of service to veterans. It has been a great help and will continue, for if it were not for them, many of us would be against a stone wall in untangling the complicated details of the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Dark Days Made Brighter

A. S.

Reveille, rifles, books and calisthenics all found their place in the day's life of an Army Specialized Training Program student at Clemson College. The number of A. S. T. P. students attached here at Clemson varied from 500 to 900 over a period of nearly two of the hardest years of the war. Engineering and pre-medicine classrooms were found filled day after day with these soldier students who were preparing for the war which had to be won. Riggs Field and the athletic staff furnished the necessary exercise.

Upon discontinuation of the A. S. T. P., Clemson found itself host to the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program, younger brothers of A. S. T. P., who prepared themselves for the time they might begin their tenure of active duty.

THE ARMY

No planes but plenty of pains helped prepare the Army Air Force's cadets who took pre-flight training at Clemson. These cadets came to be a part of those who formed the rapidly changing student body during the wartime days.

Formations were seen changing classes "on the hour-by-the-hour" going from mathematics in Tillman to calisthenics on Riggs

Clemson College has been commended by the War Department for services rendered to these men.

"Uniform of the day . . . O. D. Blouses." Another part of wartime Clemson. A cadet corps, considerably altered in size, wore the uniform of the United States Army.

Only a few were present and they as future draftees. Lack of able guidance, caused by the draft periodically taking the upper classes, proved to be a detrimental factor as the "lost cause" remained alone in keeping Clemson alive.

Those of us who were here remember the many constraining things which held the wartime R. O. T. C. back; no commissions, due to the abolition of the advanced course; no seniors to serve as everyday counselors to freshmen and sophomores; and no military staff to map our program.

A small band of men with the army as an inevitable future, watched others as they arrived and departed . . . but never can we say, "And then there were none."

THE FIRST TIGER PLATOON . . . BEFORE THE DRESS UNIFORM CAME BACK

THE TIGER PLATOON

"Hup, two, three, four, Fancy Manual . . . march." The Tiger Platoon, an able substitute for the famed precision-minded Senior Platoon, was Clemson's wartime crack-drill squad.

The Tiger Platoon was organized in 1943 upon the departure of the majority of the seniors in the '42-'43 senior platoon. Its main spur and first leader was William Moore who led the platoon through the '43 drill season and until his departure for the armed services. When he left Edward F. Byars took over the leadership and took a well-drilled piatoon through the lean years of '44 and '45 and upon graduation designated the leadership to A. J. Coleman who in turn, upon leaving, appointed Warren Owen as drill master.

A decidedly interesting history and an enviable record have been made by the members of the platoon, and so we sigh in satisfaction as we listen to the hearty echo of "Goose step, in cadence count" as it resounds into the air signifying long, hard hours of drill, patience, and fortitude.

WARTIME SPORTS

Clemson, though greatly handicapped during the war years, continued to field a team in every major sport. Our squads were often pitted against strong teams composed in part of service men; however, the Bengals played with the determination and stamina which is characteristic of all Clemson teams so that the Tiger's roar, though sometimes only discernible above a whisper, was never silent.

THE TIGER

"The south's most interesting college newspaper." War-time Edition . . . Circulation 11,000. Familiar words which rang incessantly in the minds of the wartime "Tiger" Staff. With a circulation the largest of any in the history of Clemson, the "Tiger" went forth into the four corners of the earth taking news of Clemson men to Clemson men.

Printing difficulties, shortage of students to compose the staff, and lack of news caused a reduction in size from the pre-war edition of six pages, but even so it served its purpose in that it remained an organ of the students, with the precept of service to Clemson and Clemson students as its guide.

GETTING THE LETTER OFF TO CLEMSON MEN EVERYWHERE

"Y" NEWS LETTER

And we knew there was a Clemson. The "Y" News Letter, written by Mr. Holtzendorff and staff of the YMCA reached every Clemson man who was in service. From the tip of Australia to the cold climate of Iceland and even into the depths of combat, the news letter traveled with news of Clemson and addresses of buddies elsewhere.

On the front, in the fox holes, in the hospital, wherever we were, the news letter always arrived. Tidbits of news written in Holtzy's good ole way meant oceans of enjoyment to those of us who were in service.

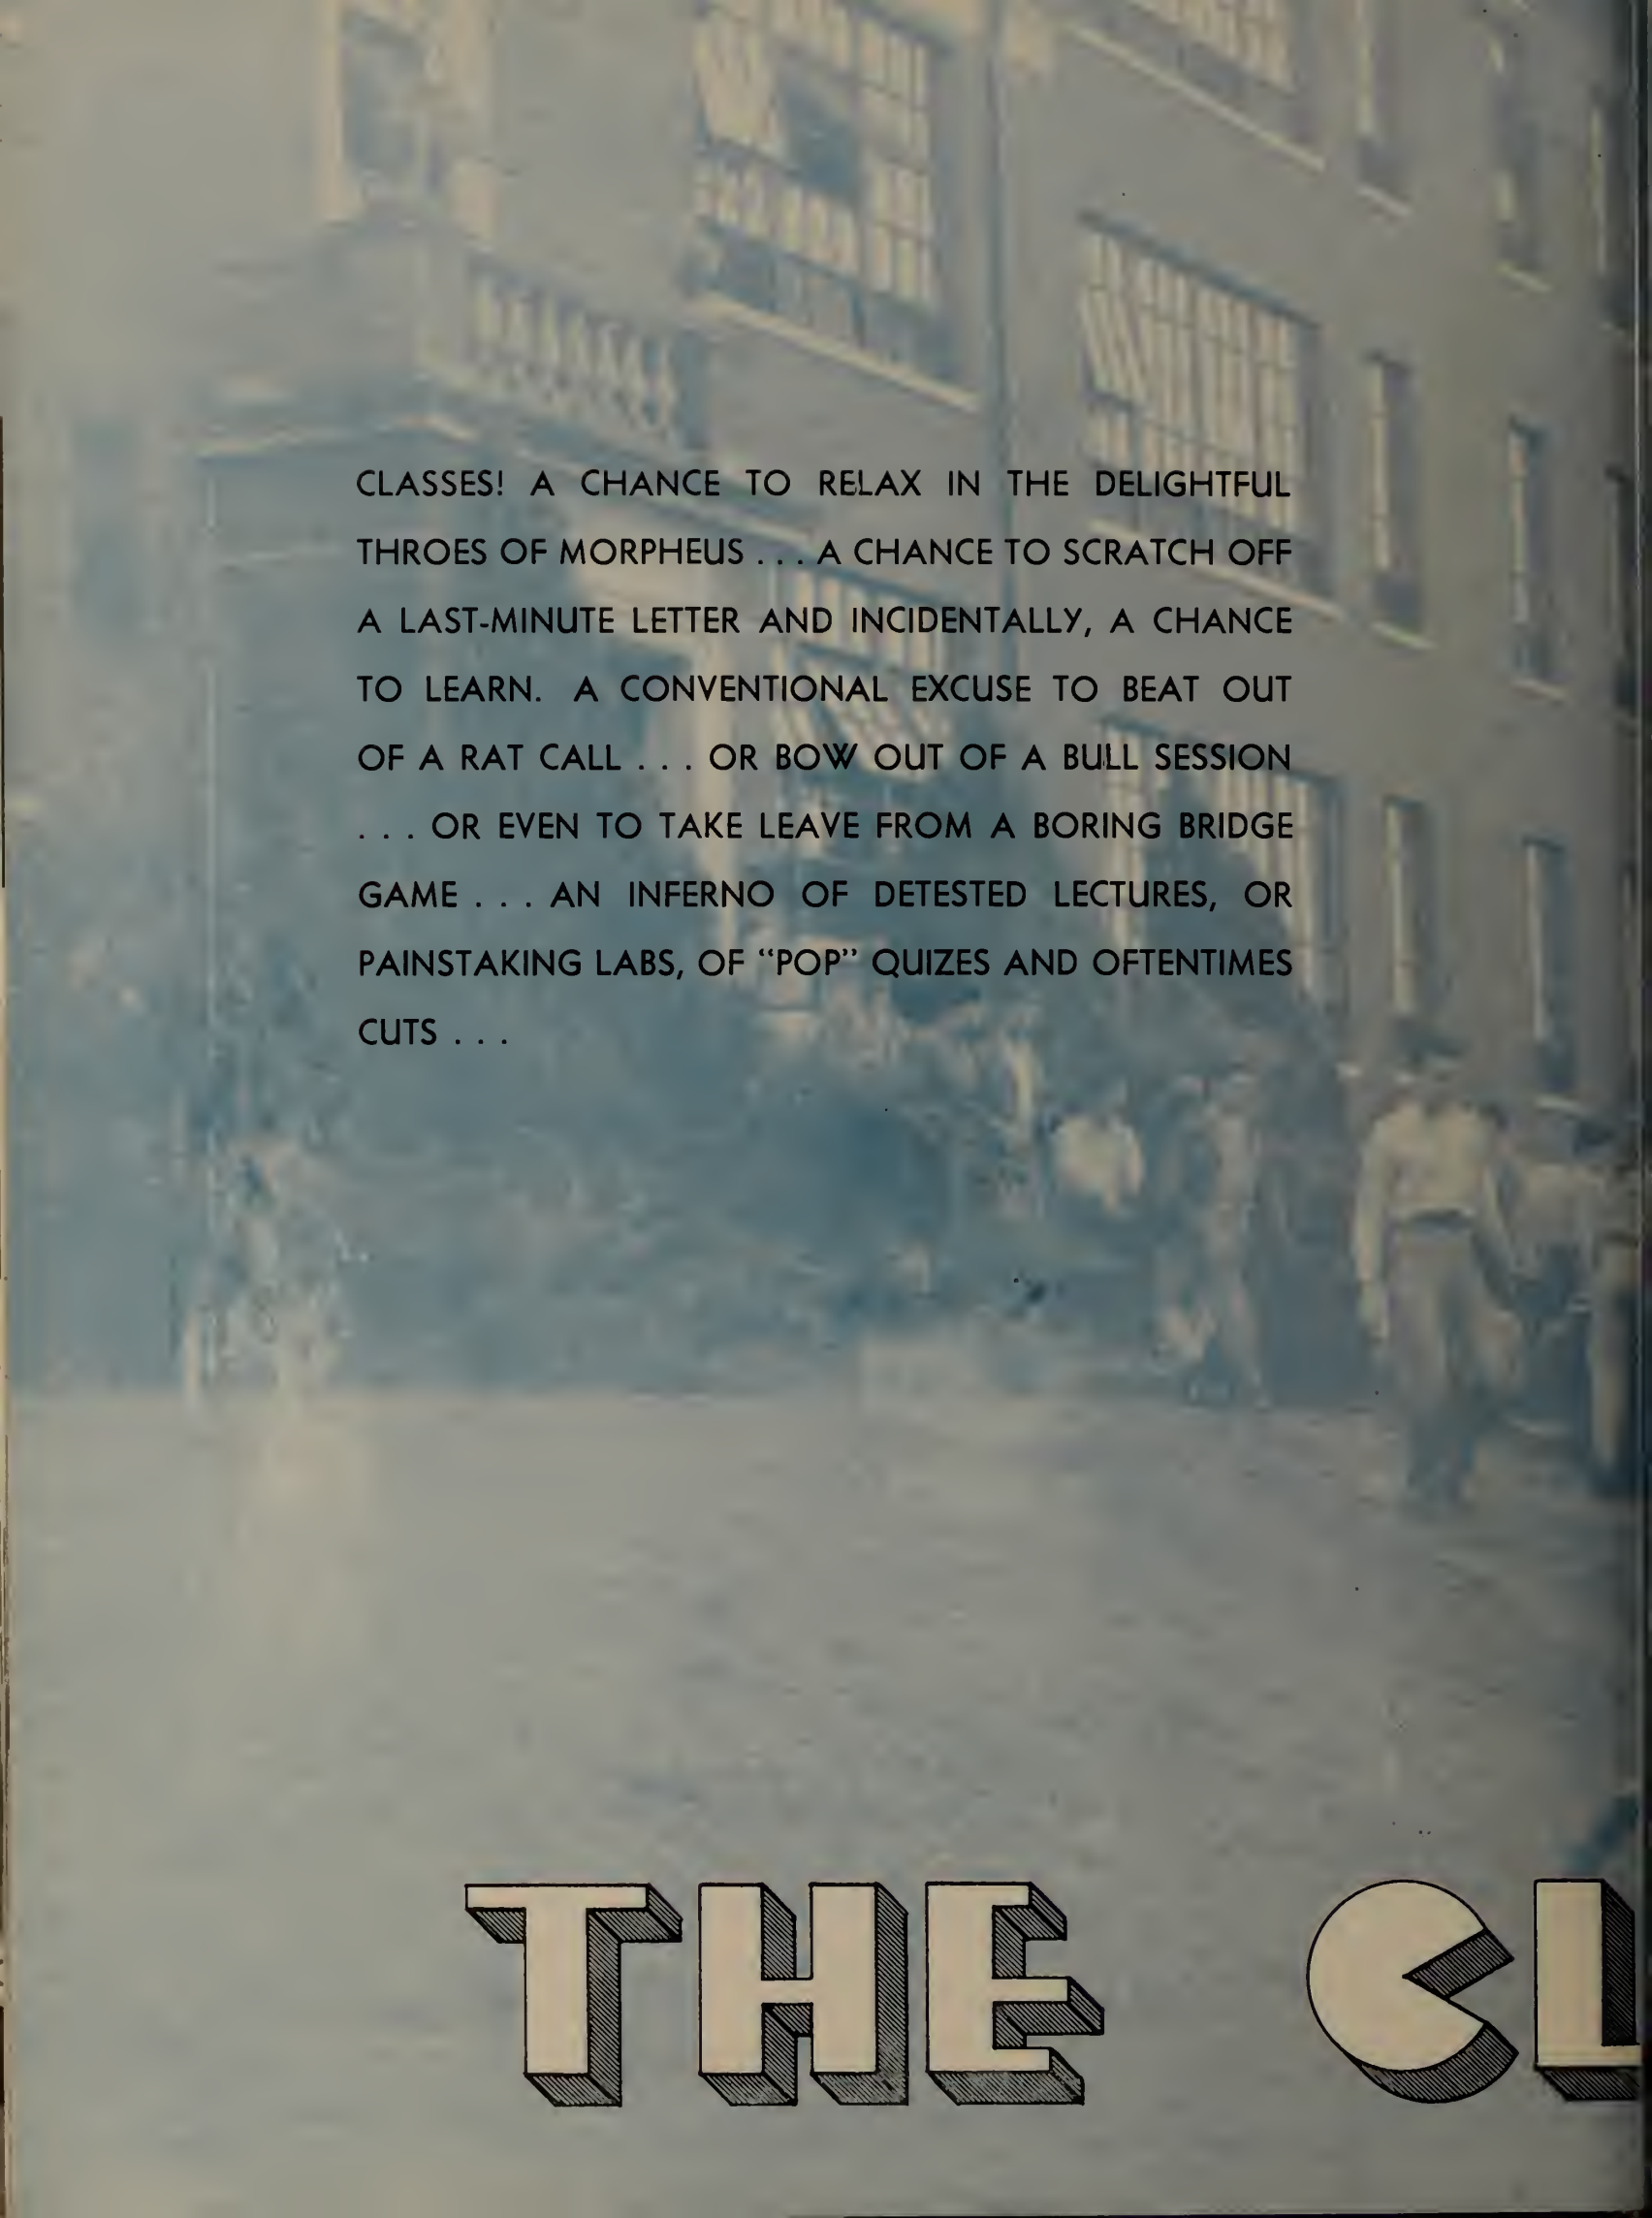

It was a paper of four, sometimes six pages with sections set aside for home news, addresses, news of Clemson campus visitors and oftentimes letters written in from other Clemson service men.

Just one of the things that made us realize that Clemson was behind us and longing for our quick return.

SENIOR COUNCIL

Salus populi esto. "Let the welfare of the people be established in the law." In this the motto of the state of Missouri, may be found the main purpose of the Senior Disciplinary Council whose aim is to operate in the best interest of all students. This year the division of the student body among cadets and veterans has necessitated the organization of two councils, an overall senior council and a cadet disciplinary council.

The senior council is composed of four members of the senior veteran class and three members of the senior cadet class who were elected by popular vote to the council. In addition to these members, the senior class officers serve as ex-officio members of the council.

CADET COUNCIL

The primary aim of the senior council is to promote good conduct among students and to recommend to the administration such policies as may be deemed necessary to the entire student body's welfare.

Similar in form and purpose to the senior council, the cadet disciplinary council is composed of seven members from the senior cadet class who were elected by popular vote. In addition to these members, as on the veterans council, there are the senior class officers who serve as ex-officio members. The president of the senior class serves as acting chairman of both councils.

OF

AT LAST, GRADUATION!

Ours is a strange class history, without a doubt the strangest since the first class left Clemson in 1896. We started as freshmen at many different times, some of us as far back as 1940, some of us as late as 1944.

The war caught many of us at the end of our junior year, and off to the armed services we went. Not all of us came back. Others were lucky and missed the relative unpleasanties of life in the services of our country, but they stayed on to see Clemson fight a losing battle against the effects of the war.

When those who had departed returned, they found that the war had definitely left its mark on Clemson. The gray uniforms, the fraternities, the publications had gone, so had the larger part of that which had been called the "Clemson Spirit." Only the "Tiger" remained as a reminder of what had been. A number of the more energetic members of our patchwork class got to work and started these things back again. All of the leading fraternities were reorganized. Work started on Taps. The "Tiger" got its teeth back. The horizon looked brighter.

Yes, as a class, we were quite different from anything ever seen at Clemson. For the first time seniors who had never given "rat service" graduated. These men had started as veteran freshmen. Some of us were confirmed married men with children. Others were beardless youngsters still in their 'teens. On the whole we got along pretty well, even though we were divided into the classification of veterans and cadets and lived entirely different lives outside of the classroom. The old senior class solidarity was gone, and in its place stood individuality.

Our stay at Clemson has been in an era of transition in every way: enrollment, administration, physical plant, and way of life. The transitions will be reflected in the class of 1947. A new type of Clemson man has been graduated. How he will compare with the pre-war Clemson man only time will tell.

RAT WHITE LEARNS THE HARD WAY

TIGER RAG!

THE ECHO OF REVEILLE, THE SHUFFLE OF FEET, AND THE MAD SCRAMBLE TO MAKE THE FORMATION ON TIME MAKE UP THE BEGINNING OF THE DAY. THE CLARION CALL, THE PERPETUAL CADENCES, AND THE MUMBLED GRIPES SIGNIFY DRILL FROM 12:00 TO 1:00. RETREAT, THE CONVENTIONAL FOLDING OF THE FLAG, AND ANOTHER DAY FOR THE CADET CORPS HAS DRAWN TO AN END. OUTWARDLY, THESE THINGS ARE HATED BY THE COLONEL'S BOYS, BUT DEEP UNDERNEATH THERE IS A SPECIFIC YEN FOR THOSE THINGS WHICH MAKE UP THE CLEMSON MILITARY.

How Are They Going to Get Back Together?

"MID PLEASURES AND PASTURES," MID CLASSES AND LAB REPORTS, WE HAVE THAT TENDENCY TO BE SOCIABLE WITH OUR FELLOW MEN. THROUGH THESE PAGES YOU MAY GANDER AT THE SUPERB SIGNIFICANCE OF THE "COUNTRY GENTLEMAN'S" WELL-ROUNDED SOCIAL LIFE. THAT WEEK-END DANCE OR THAT SHORT HOP TO THE "ROCK," THAT THRILLING PIGSKIN BATTLE OR THAT CLUB SOCIAL AT BOSCOBEL, THAT ROUND OF "BIRDIE" GOLF OR THAT CLUB INITIATION . . . ALL ARE PART OF THE GREAT FUN WE'VE HAD ASIDE FROM BONING FOR THAT QUIZ OR DOING THAT EXTRA PROBLEM IN CALCULUS.

Association

The Central Dance Association is composed of seven members of the Senior Class who are assisted by fourteen junior members. The senior members choose all of the orchestras and take complete charge of the decorations, publicity, and all other executive duties. Clemson dances are known throughout the South as being tops.

Striving under post war conditions, the C. D. A. has kept up the reputation of Clemson's dances by engaging some of the leading orchestras such as Sam Donohue, Reggi Childs, and Royce Stoenner.

The C. D. A. is a non-profit organization working entirely to promote social activity for the students. The business manager of the college has complete control over all of the expenditures of the organization.

A large crowd of people is gathered at a sports event, likely a football game. The crowd is dense and fills the upper two-thirds of the frame. In the foreground, a banner is visible with a silhouette of a person and the text "WITH ALL FIGERS". The overall scene is captured in a blue-tinted, slightly grainy photograph.

THE COACHES

Athletics without coaches may be likened to a ship without a rudder or an army without a general. These are the men who are lauded in victory and condemned in defeat. Even though the pressure is great and the reward meager, our coaches have kept faith in themselves and in their charges and have repeatedly produced teams whose dual purpose it was to win and to play the game with a demonstration of clean sportsmanship.

Everybody up on the kickoff! The team comes forward, the ball is kicked, and the curtain is raised on the 1946 football season. At the opening kickoff, hopes were high and Clemson stock skyrocketed; however, it soon became apparent that we were sorely inexperienced and were playing out of our class in many instances. The team played well and, although often outclassed, never failed to give a creditable account of themselves.

The Tigers removed the lid of their 1946 season as they downed a spunky P. C. eleven by a score of 39 to 0. At this point it looked as if a great season were in store for the Bengals. They displayed a terrifically powerful line and a flashy array of backs.

There was little doubt as to the final outcome of the game, but many times P. C. showed a great passing attack. There seemed to be just too much power against the hapless Blue Hose as the Tigers held complete control of affairs throughout the afternoon.

Fleet-footed Bobby Gage and big Gerald "Dutch" Leverman shone in the offensive department for the Tigers, while the entire line looked good.

Hopes were high for a great season!

DEFEAT AT ATHENS

GEORGIA	7	14	14	0—35
CLEMSON	0	6	6	0—12

Georgia's mighty Bulldogs, sparked by a spectacular passing attack, handed the Tigers their first defeat of the season. It was no disgrace, however, to be beaten by this fine team, and Clemson performed nobly.

Trailing early in the second quarter by a score of 7 to 6, things looked bright for the Tigers as they began to march again. They drove 45 yards in a very few plays before things bogged down.

Then Georgia's aerial aces took over, and the Tigers seemed unable to stop the accurate passes. Four of the Bulldogs' five touchdowns were made on passes and the other one was a 52-yard run.

Though injured for most of the game, Leverman was Clemson's big sparkplug.

The Tigers again tasted defeat as they were downed 14 to 7 by North Carolina State in a close, exciting game. The two teams were about as evenly matched as twins. Up until the last whistle the game was anybody's.

Clemson took the lead about midway in the first quarter on a 33-yard jaunt by Leverman. They held this lead, though, only for a period of minutes. State's Turner received the kickoff on his 2-yard line, headed for the side line, broke into the center of the field and was destined for pay dirt.

Turner again scored in the second period on a spectacular 10-yard run in which he completely reversed his field. From then until the end of the game it was nip and tuck. Both teams muffed several good opportunities and both lines played outstanding defensive football. Excitement ran high as the Tigers had the pigskin deep in State territory in the closing moments of the game, but State held.

But it was a good game, anyhow!

The Tigers played a hard, bang-up game of football but the chips were against them as the Wake Forest Deacons overcame them 19 to 7. The Demon Deacons displayed just too much power and flash for the Bengals to handle.

Wake Forest scored on a long pass in the first two minutes of the game, but, sparked by Gage, the Tigers came back to tie the score a few minutes later. The Deacons then got up steam and drove 80 yards for their second score.

Early in the second half Wake Forest scored after recovering a fumble on the Clemson five. Then the rain came in torrents, neither team scored again during the game, but the Tigers missed a couple of good opportunities. Gage and Poe were outstanding on offense and Gillespie and Smith shone in the defense.

Thousands of Clemson fans went wild with excitement in the third quarter of the annual colorful State Fair game as the Tigers took the scoring lead, but they lost their enthusiasm in the last quarter as the battered Gamecocks showed great form in coming back and scoring two more touchdowns.

The game was played before more than 30,000 fans, the largest number ever to witness the Clemson-Carolina tradition-filled classic. About 5,000 of these spectators rushed the gate to get into the stadium, but those who bought tickets also got their money's worth of thrills and excitement.

It was a blow to Clemson fans who had their hearts set on winning, to see victory snatched away in the last six minutes.

The Tigers got back on the win wagon by upsetting the Virginia Polytechnic Institute Gobblers by a score of 14 to 7 in the last quarter of play. Sparked by the great performance of Bobby Gage, who played despite a nose injury, the Clemson team played outstanding ball to come from behind and bag the game. Frank Gillespie probably saved the day when he chased down Tech's Deshazo from behind to stop a certain score late in the third quarter.

Though outclassed earlier in the game the Tigers rebounded in the third quarter to take complete control of things and win. Too much credit can't be given to Gage for his fine playing in this game, which led to his being hospitalized for several weeks after.

It was a crippled Clemson team that embarked from Clemson for New Orleans and a more crippled team that returned to the Alma Mater after a crushing 54-13 defeat at the hands of Tulane's powerful Green Wave. Among a dozen or more injured varsity players unable to perform were Gage, Leonard, and Pruitt, all of whom didn't even make the trip.

Sadly lacking in drive and power, the Tigers took to the air for their bid for victory. But it was Tulane's show the whole way. They scored nearly at will against a weak opposition on long passes and flashy runs. Even Clemson's noted powerful line gave way to the fury of the attack.

Leverman, though injured, turned in a good performance and Hendley put in a strong bid for stardom in future events.

To show the team that they were still behind them, the student body, band, and community people turned out in mass to welcome the defeated team home.

Before 18,000 Homecoming Day fans, the largest number ever to witness a game in Clemson's new Memorial Stadium, the Tigers showed they still had a winning combination by downing their traditional rival, Furman, 20-7. Practically the whole Tiger backfield had been shifted around because of injuries and many a new face in the line greeted the spectators.

There was never much doubt that the Tigers held the upper hand, but the Furman fans had opportunity to yell when Wham intercepted a pass and dashed 85 yards to score for the Hurricane in the second quarter. The Tigers came back after the half scoring two more touchdowns. The Tigers missed several good opportunities to score; in fact the game ended with Clemson in possession of the ball on the Furman one-yard line.

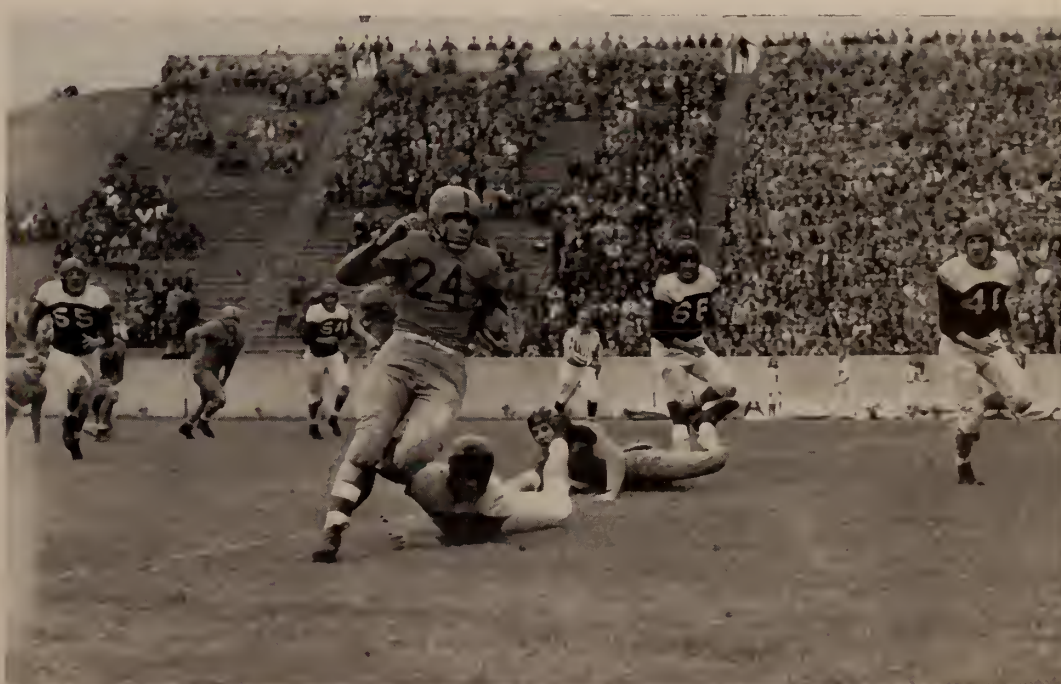

Dewey Quinn turned in his best performance of the year and Hendley, Leverman, Gaines, and Thompson also played outstanding ball. We won the championship of Greenville and Oconee counties.

FINALE WITH VICTORY

The Clemson Tigers rang down the curtain on their 1946 season with a thrilling 21-13 victory over Auburn. The Tigers traveled 99, 51, and 36 yards for touchdowns in the first half. Led by Travis and Tidwell, Auburn made a strong comeback in the second half, but it was too late then.

Probably the most outstanding play of the game came in the first few minutes when Leverman, in his own end zone, passed to Quinn who covered some 90 yards before being stopped on Auburn's 13-yard line, to set up the first touchdown. The other Clemson tallies came in quick succession as Martin intercepted a pass and ran 51 yards to score, and as Leverman passed to Walker from the Auburn 36.

Mavis "Bull" Cagle played a fine game in the line and converted all three extra points. Prince and Gillespie were also outstanding in the forward wall. Quinn and Leverman were the sparkplugs of the backfield.

THE TIGER CAGEMEN

Nineteen Hundred and Forty-Seven found the Tiger basketballers with one of the toughest schedules ever faced by a Clemson team. They lacked experience; however, they had spirit, fortitude, a will to win, and a fighting coach to supply the necessary "hustle" to make a winner.

The season opened with Pelzer Mill as an opponent. The team played well; however, they were outclassed from the initial whistle and Pelzer was the victor by a score of 62 to 49. A return engagement was held at Clemson and the story was the same, to the tune of 57 to 44. These practice tilts with Pelzer were instrumental in bringing out glaring faults in the Tiger team so that Coach McFadden was able to modify his tactics prior to the first college contest.

Erskine afforded our first intercollegiate game with a tilt in the Clemson field house. Erskine's plight was hopeless from the beginning so that the game ended in Clemson's favor by a count of 57 to 30; however, it was evident that improvement was still necessary. The following night the Tigers played host to the Wofford Terriers. The game was "nip and tuck" all the way with Gillespie playing brilliantly for Clemson. Wofford hit the loop frequently in the last few minutes; however, a margin of two points still persisted between the two teams when the final whistle sounded so that the Tigers were triumphant by a count of 52 to 50.

The team then traveled up "tarheel way" with Asheville as their destination for a game with the highly touted Asheville Bombers. The Tigers looked much improved and played the North Carolinians a much better game than was anticipated; however, they came out on the short end of a 50 to 46 score with Pruitt's floor game being an outstanding feature.

As this book goes to press, the season has just begun so that any prognostication of the season by the sports staff would be based on little more than speculation; however, in our opinion if the team continues to improve it should win most of the remaining games and enter the Southern Conference Tourney with fair chances for success.

FISTICUFFS

The bell sounds, two fighters in opposite corners rush out into the center of the ring, touch gloves, quickly take up fighting stances, and the Tiger is again in the ring. Yes, for the first time since 1942 Clemson has produced a boxing team and it may be truthfully said that the team has as much potentiality as any team of the past. The Tigers have always been known for their mittmen, the rosters of the days gone sporting such names as: Warren Wilson, Pete Myers, Edgar Ross, Harvey Ferguson, Reuben Siegel, Milton Berry, and many others.

The 1947 edition of the Tiger ringsters under the experienced eye of veteran coach Bob Jones began ironing out kinks with the beginning of the new year. After countless hours of preparation, the pushers traveled to Charleston for an encounter with Citadel's highly favored Bulldogs. The Tigers fought well; however, they were nosed out by a score of 4½ to 3½.

Orr, Pulkinen, and Brown also won their fights, the last by the knockout route; however, Citadel took the remaining encounters and the match ended with the score knotted at 4 all.

Who Has the Next Dance?

The Tiger team entertained the Gamecocks of Carolina in the Clemson field house and a good Tiger team looked even better. Johnny Lindsay opened proceedings with a smashing knockout over Hare of Carolina in one minute 30 seconds of the second round. Orr, one of Clemson's star performers, felt out Carolina's White in the first round, threw four solid punches in the second, and stepped from the ring leaving his opponent prone upon the canvas. Pulkinen, Tiger lightweight, clearly outclassed his opponent, Merchant of Carolina, to gain the nod from the referee. Murray of Clemson and Wilson proved to be evenly matched and fought to a draw. At this point, Carolina seemed to come to life when their team won two bouts, both of which were in the welterweight division. The heavyweight division bout of the evening featured Clemson's Bill Hunter being pitted against Bill Rutledge of "Gamecockia." The Carolina man drew first blood with a right cross to the head that sent Hunter to the canvas. The blow backfired for Hunter sprang from the canvas with the determination of the Tiger pursuing his prey so that the Clemsonian relentlessly pounded his opponent into submission to gain a T. K. O. in two minutes of the third round. Thus the matches ended with the Tiger team holding an advantage by a score of 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Nineteen Hundred and Forty-Six found the Tiger track team lacking the usual galaxy of stars that usually goes to make up Clemson cinder teams. The team was small and lacked experience; however, they never failed to give a good account of themselves and were always out to win.

Furman's Purple Hurricane opened Clemson's season with a meet at Tigertown. Furman got off to a good start; however, the Tigers came from behind and set a very rapid pace to win by a large margin, 99 to 32.

"TWEET" POE in the Lead on the Home Stretch

The next week found our team pitted against Davidson, a much-improved outfit. The Wildcats were ahead from the beginning and won handily by a score of 75 to 56.

Carolina was our next opponent and the powerful Gamecocks scored in every department to easily gain a 93½ to 36½ decision.

North Carolina State, credited as being the strongest team in the conference, came to Clemson to end the season. The inexperienced Tigers put up a very stiff contest for the Wolfpack from North Carolina State and were leading at one point; however, the North Carolina team managed to nose out a 69 to 56 win.

A bird's song, a blooming flower, a budding tree, a young man's fancy lightly turning to thoughts of a certain someone, whether it be a Alpha Delta Pi at Georgia, a Tri-Delta at North Carolina or a cute young thing in Spartanburg, can mean only one thing—spring, and the Tiger is on the diamond.

The 1946 Clemson team was the first post-war baseball contingent and its record was something of which any pre-war outfit might well be proud. The brilliant pitching of Joe Landrum, the hitting of Charlie Mimms and Joe McGee, and fielding prowess of Dewey Quinn and June Pruitt contributed immeasurably to the Tiger success. We knew that we had a good ball club when we beat Anderson, a team in the Class "B" Tri-State circuit.

WHITEY, RANDY, BILL and LUTHER Take Time to Have Their Picture Taken

The season opened with a 6 to 0 defeat of Newberry. This followed by a 9 to 5 win over Ft. Jackson and a 2 to 1 victory over Carolina. In the next game, we got off to a bad start and Georgia handed us our first defeat by a score of 16 to 9. The Tigers traveled to Athens the following day with vengeance in their hearts. Georgia would probably have looked better if it had been represented by an aggregation from Lucy Cobb's antiquated halls, for the Clemson victory was to the tune of 23 to 0, the largest score compiled against any team during the entire season. The team went on to win two games each from Presbyterian, Furman, and Wofford and one each from Davidson and Ft. Jackson, however, they dropped two to the Newberry Indians. The season finale saw Carolina pitted against Clemson on the Tiger's diamond with the latter bent upon downing the Gamecocks, in order to tie Newberry for the State Championship. Joe Landrum, Clemson star pitcher, was the man of the day as he set Carolina down with two runs on six hits while his teammates piled up a total of 12 runs to clinch the Tiger victory and a half interest in the State Championship.

From our corner of the bench, the prospects for the 1947 team are exceedingly bright and will embody a veteran baseballer at every post. Joe Hazel, a freshman from Woodruff, is expected to team up with Joe Landrum, Lee Pickens, and Bill Martin to give the Tigers a pitching staff superior to any in the conference.

The Clemson tankmen, under the leadership of Co-Captains Lint Holtzendorff and Joe Mann, encountered a sizeable task: attempting to make a comeback after an idle period of three years. The team met a terrific handicap in that only two lettermen were available for practice. Hopefuls among the new members are: Hank Walker, free-style dash man; Bob Hirshberg, diver and free-style distance swimmer; and breast-stroker Bultman. Meets have been scheduled with Emory, N. C. State, Georgia Tech and Georgia.

The team has demonstrated its winning potential; however, it is in drastic need of a full-time coach to provide the necessary tutorage and drive.

THE RIFLE TEAM

The crack of rifle fire in the basement of the sixth barracks can mean but one thing, the flag is down and the "Eagle-eyed Clemson experts" are hitting the "bull". The 1947 riflemen, led by Co-Captains L. S. Swygert and J. R. Shepard, have a schedule that calls for firing the William Randolph Heart Trophy Match, the Third Army Area Intercollegiate Match, Thirty Telegraphic Matches and possibly two Shoulder to Shoulder Matches with neighboring MC and M1 schools.

GOLF

The 1946 Clemson linksmen, under the leadership of Captain Chip Clark, completed a season that should be the envy of any golf team. In our six scheduled matches, we were victorious in every start, most of which were by large margins. We also came in fourth in the Southern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament at Athens, Ga.

The 1947 golfers are looking toward another very successful season under its new Captain, Lee Pickens.

A grin of satisfaction and excitement passed across the face of the editor as the last envelope of copy and photographs was tossed into the already huge pile to be mailed. Not only exciting was it for the editor but also for the whole staff for it meant the inevitable climax to months of diligent work.

Needless to say, we are proud of our work, in spite of the many errors which we were unable to correct, and we hope that this Taps meets wholeheartedly with your approval.

Staff

The 1947 staff, whose likenesses appear on these two pages, have functioned with a great degree of cooperation among the staff members, and it may be added that the students of the staff are responsible in the entirety for the work on this annual. The layout, the cover, design, and even the art work has all been done by the staff. Taps is truly a publication of and by the students.

We are the makers and producers; you are the critic. If your critique is favorable, then we will feel that our ultimate objective has been accomplished.

JUNIOR TAPS STAFF

The hub of the wheel of the Taps production has been presented. We now present the spokes. As in any wheel, the spokes are the most essential parts and it can be seen that the junior Taps staff has served well in that capacity. They have known no end to hard work since production of the 1947 Taps was begun.

It is impossible to record the amount of work which these men have shown for they have borne the brunt of the drudgery required in the publication of this yearbook. Such work as the collection of Taps fees, typing, preparing copy for the printer, and also the running of many errands for the senior staff are included in the tasks which these men were required to perform.

We are grateful to them for their wonderful cooperation and we have the greatest of confidence in them when we say that they shall do even greater things for Taps next year when they themselves are at the helm.

PRODUCERS

A short cross section of the Taps production is given here for the benefit of those who would endeavor to visualize the steps in its production. Little does the outsider realize the time and effort expended in compiling the material for a yearbook.

Every page must first be layed out exactly as it is to appear in the finished publication. In addition, write-ups, class pictures, club rolls, club pictures, company rolls, company pictures, and snapshots must be gathered and arranged on the previously laid out pages.

All writing has to be typed into a book form to be given the printer. This typed copy is then check read several times to avoid errors. Later a rough proof copy of the entire book is sent to the staff to be checked over for possible mistakes in identity and type. The proofs are corrected, then sent back to the printer.

The presses begin to roll. Meantime the cover has been designed and approved. The book is then bound and trucked to the Taps room—the task is completed.

The 1947 Tiger Staff

CLEMSON COLLEGE

"The Tiger" is the official newspaper of the Clemson student body. Published bi-weekly, it is distributed to 2,960 students and to more than 2,500 subscribers.

Being the only college newspaper to operate without total interruption during the war years, "The Tiger" continues to produce staff men who seek to make their mark in the world of journalism.

In keeping with a Clemson tradition, "The Tiger" is strictly a product of the student body and is subjected to no faculty censorship whatsoever. The aim of the staff, who are all non-journalism majors, is the portrayal of the news as the student sees it.

AT WORK

Publishing the oldest college newspaper in the state begins with preliminary assignments and editorials being drafted by the editor or his news editor.

Then the entire staff steps in and gets down to the business of columns, beats and pictures.

The paper is "put to bed" at the "Seneca Journal" plant in nearby Seneca. The proofing and make up of this, the South's most interesting college newspaper, is done by various members of the staff.

After the completed newspaper comes off the press, the circulation crew takes over for distribution to the four corners of the earth.

BLUE KEY DIRECTORY

This annual publication by the Clemson College Chapter of Blue Key is an agency of fulfillment of the principal purpose of the fraternity—"To Serve."

Pertinent information as to class, course, campus and home addresses of all students are given in the directory. Rolls of organizations and fraternities of the campus, a roster of R. O. T. C. by companies, an annual college calendar and a list of faculty members and trustees add to its usefulness.

This year's edition directory was compiled and edited solely by members of the local chapter.

THE Y. M. C. A. HANDBOOK

Each year the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, assisted by the Y. M. C. A. Staff, edits "The 'Y' Handbook" which it distributes to students and campus residents. The book contains general information about the college as a whole, the Y. M. C. A. and its program, and the campus churches.

In the handbook a write-up is given to each school of the college, each church of the campus and the program of each church. The entire Y program, the Y staff, and advisory board, and the student leaders are presented to the reader in an interesting and informative manner.

BOBBIN AND BEAKER

In 1940 the Iota Chapter of Phi Psi, national honor textile fraternity, sponsored the first edition of its publication, the "Bobbin and Beaker", which was destined to become one of the campus' regular magazines.

The main purpose of the magazine is to maintain contact between the textile school and the textile school graduates. It attempts to cover all phases of the textile industry. Readers in the industry are depended upon to furnish material of a technical nature since students are qualified to write only on general subjects.

"Bobbin and Beaker" offers the advertiser a personal contact between the industry and with the young men who will take their places in the textile industry of tomorrow.

THE SLIP STICK

The "Slip Stick," published by students of the Schools of Engineering and Chemistry, presents to the reader the latest technical material in these fields. The first edition of "Slip Stick" appeared in 1941 and since that time has become one of the regular magazine publications of the campus.

Along with the technical material are items of news and features of local interest. The work of publishing the magazine is done wholly by the staff. An advisory board composed of faculty members is available at all times for constructive criticism.

ON WHOSE

The Clemson College Y. M. C. A.—known by the students as the “Y”—progresses continuously leaving behind it a splendid record of service to students and campus residents. After visiting the campus for a short while one might wonder how lost the place would appear without its “Y” under the direction of Mr. P. B. Holtzendorff.

A lobby and two spacious club rooms provide a place for students to relax and entertain friends. On the main floor is also found two game rooms, local and public telephones, a canteen, and the main theatre. In the basement is the secondary theatre, the large indoor swimming pool which allows year-round swimming, a barbershop, and Clemson's finest cafeteria. On the second floor are rooms which are mostly filled with non-barracks students and passing guests.

The numerous services of the “Y” would require an entire book if one were to expound thereon—free movies on Saturday mornings, open houses, forum groups, and evening watches. Also Saturday night dances with girls imported from neighboring towns, and the athletic program are only a sample of these numerous services.

SHOULDERS

The "Y" councils and cabinets could not cooperate as efficiently with other Y. M. C. A.s and with Y. W. C. A.s without the bi-annual South Carolina Y. W.-Y. M. C. A. Retreat Conference meetings which the Clemson "Y" has so heartily supported. Sunday afternoon and evening vesper services with prominent local guest speakers and short movies break the monotony and add to the spiritual life of the student. Each year deputation teams, a cabinet project, travel extensively and act as host to visiting teams from other colleges and universities. The "Y" News Letter, N. S. L., was sent to all corners of the world where Clemson men were stationed. Many men have written expressing their appreciation of the letters which helped them contact former schoolmates and renewed old but favorite memories of a great school and great guys.

Intramural sports under the direction of J. R. Cooper, associate secretary, present basketball, softball, touch football, tennis, golf, volleyball, and swimming in a well-rounded athletic program.

No student will ever forget the "Y's" many services, benefits, atmosphere of fellowship, and comradeship found at the Clemson "Y". Surely this organization plays a great part in building the greater Clemson.

The Y. M. C. A. Cabinet is the coordinating link in the chain of class councils, the Y. M. C. A. staff, and the student body.

The program of the cabinet is carried out through various committees. Chairmen of the committees handle such jobs as membership and finance, conferences and publicity, evening watch and forum groups, deputation teams, religious programs, music and vespers.

The cabinet endeavors to promote Christian fellowship by coordinating all activities of the Y. M. C. A. and by aiding the Advisory Board in carrying out the policies of the Administration.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union coordinates the numerous activities of the Baptist students at Clemson. Its thorough program instigates religious training and spiritual growth through Bible study, Sunday School, Wednesday evening training union, morning watch, prayer partner programs, and special services.

The Reverend Harold Cole, pastor, and Mr. James L. Spangenberg, student minister, assist the student leaders in presenting the program to the students. The B. S. U. seeks to make Christianity collegiate at Clemson and to deepen the spiritual quality of the twelve hundred Baptist students studying at Clemson.

PRESBYTERIAN

The Presbyterian Student Association, under the direction of Reverend S. J. L. Crouch, has become one of the more active church organizations on the campus. The organization, a link between the students and the church, presents to the students a thorough religious program in church training and Bible study.

The recreational program invites the students to participate in a well-rounded program which provides enjoyable events and pleasant contacts.

WESLEY FOUNDATION COUNCIL

The Wesley Foundation Council was organized in 1938 to provide a more thorough church program for Methodist students.

During the war years the council carried on under the direction of Reverend E. Wannamaker Hardin and a continuously changing group of student leaders. Now with many of the former leaders again in school, the Methodist Church has employed an Assistant Director of Wesley Foundation who aids the minister in the extensive student program which provides Mid-Week Retreat on Wednesday evenings, Saturday night social events, a Sunday morning Fellowship Breakfast, church-school programs under the direction of Dr. James E. Ward, deputation teams, and the annual Wesley Foundation Weekend.

The "Retreat Bugle", a publication project of the council, is published each Tuesday afternoon to inform each student of the weekly program of the church.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

The Lutheran Students' Association is a student religious organization which endeavors to promote fellowship among the students of its denomination.

The association meets each Wednesday in the Y. M. C. A. club room for informal discussions on current topics of interest and their relation to religion. The discussions are led by Reverend Ben Clark of Walhalla.

One of the foremost aims of the Clemson L. S. A. is the construction of a chapel on the Clemson campus.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club is the religious organization of the Catholic students of Clemson. The Clemson chapter was organized in 1940 by Reverend Father T. F. Tierney.

More than two hundred chapters are found in the United States. The first was organized in 1893 at the University of Pennsylvania. The cardinal purpose of the club is to promote the spiritual life of the student, his religious instruction and his social life.

BRANDEIS CLUB

The objectives of the Hillel-Brandeis Club are to promote the general welfare of the Jewish students at Clemson and to cultivate a spirit of fellowship and comradeship among its members.

The Hillel Foundation has chapters on all outstanding American college and university campuses. It is a focus from which Jewish students are stimulated to concern themselves for future citizenship.

In addition to discussion groups, Hillel also stresses open forums which provide opportunities for the exchange of views with other student groups and for work in interfaith religion.

Blue Key, national honorary service and leadership fraternity, is recognized as one of the outstanding organizations on the campus. Its membership is composed of students of the senior class who are selected for membership on the basis of outstanding service to the school, scholastic rank, and personal character. The fraternity serves as a coordinating body for all student clubs and organizations and also a link between the students and the administration.

Many services are rendered the college by Blue Key. The most prominent service is that of the publication of the Blue Key Directory, published annually by the fraternity as a catalogue of students' addresses, class, room number, course of study, and other detailed facts; it also contains a list of faculty personnel and their various degrees. Another such prominent service which has been rendered is that of the erection of the Thomas G. Clemson statue in front of the main building.

Tiger Brotherhood was founded in 1928 by a group of faculty members interested in bringing together groups of Clemson men, both students and faculty, of outstanding ability and loyalty to the institution.

The purpose of this fraternity may be found in the preamble to the constitution which is as follows: "To foster within the bonds of brotherhood those qualities and traits characteristic of the best type of Clemson men; to cultivate the virtues of earnestness and integrity of character coupled with tolerance and forbearance with the views and convictions of others wherever they may be placed; to utilize full influence of the membership in the interest of sober, considerate counsel and avoidance of hasty action at critical times, such as have so often hindered Clemson's progress in the past."

Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society, was first organized in 1897 to promote scholarship among students in American Colleges. The local chapter was organized in 1938. All branches of knowledge are equally recognized. The society seeks to stimulate learning in competition with the attractive and conflicting interests of everyday life. Students and faculty are both eligible for membership.

Promotion of good feeling and high ideals is its chief aim. Only outstanding students with sound character from the top eighth of the senior class who have maintained a 6.5 grade point ratio or better are eligible.

Phi Eta Sigma, National Freshman Honorary Scholastic Fraternity, was founded in 1923 at the University of Illinois in order to recognize and promote high scholarship among first-year men, to provide a medium for exchange of ideas among undergraduates of American universities and colleges, and to furnish a way through which faculty and student body can work together more closely.

Qualifications for membership in the local chapter, which was started in 1938, is based solely on the grade point ratio, the requirement being a 7.5 ratio for a student's first semester or for the first complete year as a freshman. Active membership is open only to freshmen and sophomores with juniors and seniors kept on the rolls in an inactive capacity.

The Agricultural Economics Club is composed of students majoring in the field of Agricultural Economics who desire to gain a deeper insight into current economic problems. The club, under the guidance of Dr. G. H. Aull and Dr. W. T. Ferrier, was reorganized this year after a period of wartime inactivity.

The programs presented attempt to relate classroom theory to actual professional problems through forums, discussions, and guest speakers.

DAIRY CLUB

The Clemson Dairy Club was organized in September of 1922 by Prof. B. E. Goodale. It was the first departmental club on the campus and is affiliated with the National Student Branch of the American Dairy Science Association.

The purpose is to bring together students mutually interested in topics relative to the dairy industry and to inspire a livelier interest in academic work. It also stimulates better student-faculty relations.

The club meets twice a month, with programs presented by the students, a faculty member, or someone from off the campus who is associated with the dairy industry.

The Jungalers, Clemson's own dance orchestra, has been recognized in years past as one of the top collegiate orchestras of the South. The Jungalers have been heard not only in the field house but at many of the large events of the colleges of South Carolina and neighboring states.

Aside from college appearances they are found playing for various social functions and are in constant demand.

The Jungalers is a self-supporting unit which makes its own contacts, bears its own expenses and furnishes its own means of transportation.

EXECUTIVE SERGEANTS' CLUB

The Executive Sergeants' Club is a combination of the old First Sergeants' Club and Supply Sergeants' Club of pre-war Clemson.

Membership is limited to those cadets who have achieved ratings of sergeant major, first sergeant, color sergeant, supply sergeant, band master, drum major or mess sergeant in the cadet corps.

The chief ideal of the club is to offer a source of fellowship for its members and to concentrate its efforts for service to Clemson.

CONCERT

The Clemson Concert Band was reorganized this year under the direction of Mr. H. H. McGarity, who was appointed director of music at Clemson in the fall. Approximately forty students, both cadets and veterans, were selected for membership. Much practice was necessary as many of the members were inexperienced. However, in spite of these difficulties, the band developed its library of music and gave a Christmas concert with the Glee Club in addition to other concerts given in the spring.

Functioning as an organization supported wholeheartedly by the administration, the concert band endeavors to attain recognition for Clemson in the field of classical and semi-classical music.

GLEE

For the past four years, the Clemson College Glee Club has been inactive due to war conditions. However, this year, the musical organization has been reactivated by Professor Hugh H. McGarity of the newly established Music Department. Under his guidance, this group has gained much in its quest to become one of the best college glee clubs in the state.

It is the hope of every member that this organization will continue to grow in musical development in the coming years until it becomes the best in this section of the country.

BETA SIGMA CHI

Beta Sigma Chi is composed of students who live within a fifty-mile radius of Charleston. The fraternity was formed in 1933, and since that time has developed into one of the leading regional fraternities at Clemson.

Each spring Beta Sigma Chi offers a partial scholarship to a deserving high school student from the Charleston area. This scholarship is given by competitive examination and this club is the only one of its kind at Clemson offering such an award.

Membership in the fraternity is limited to thirty, and these men are chosen for outstanding qualities of leadership, personality and scholastic ability.

Alpha Chi Psi, active on the campus since 1930, is one of Clemson's foremost social organizations. It was organized to bring cadets of character and personality together in a spirit of fellowship.

Various social activities such as intermission parties at dances, and other "get togethers" help to promote unity and good will within the club.

SIGMA EPSILON

Sigma Epsilon was organized as a purely social fraternity to offset the tendency of the clannishness among many of the campus' technical fraternities. In selecting members, character, personality, and congeniality are prime factors considered. In Sigma Epsilon there exists a feeling that is not prevalent in other types of organizations.

T H E E N D

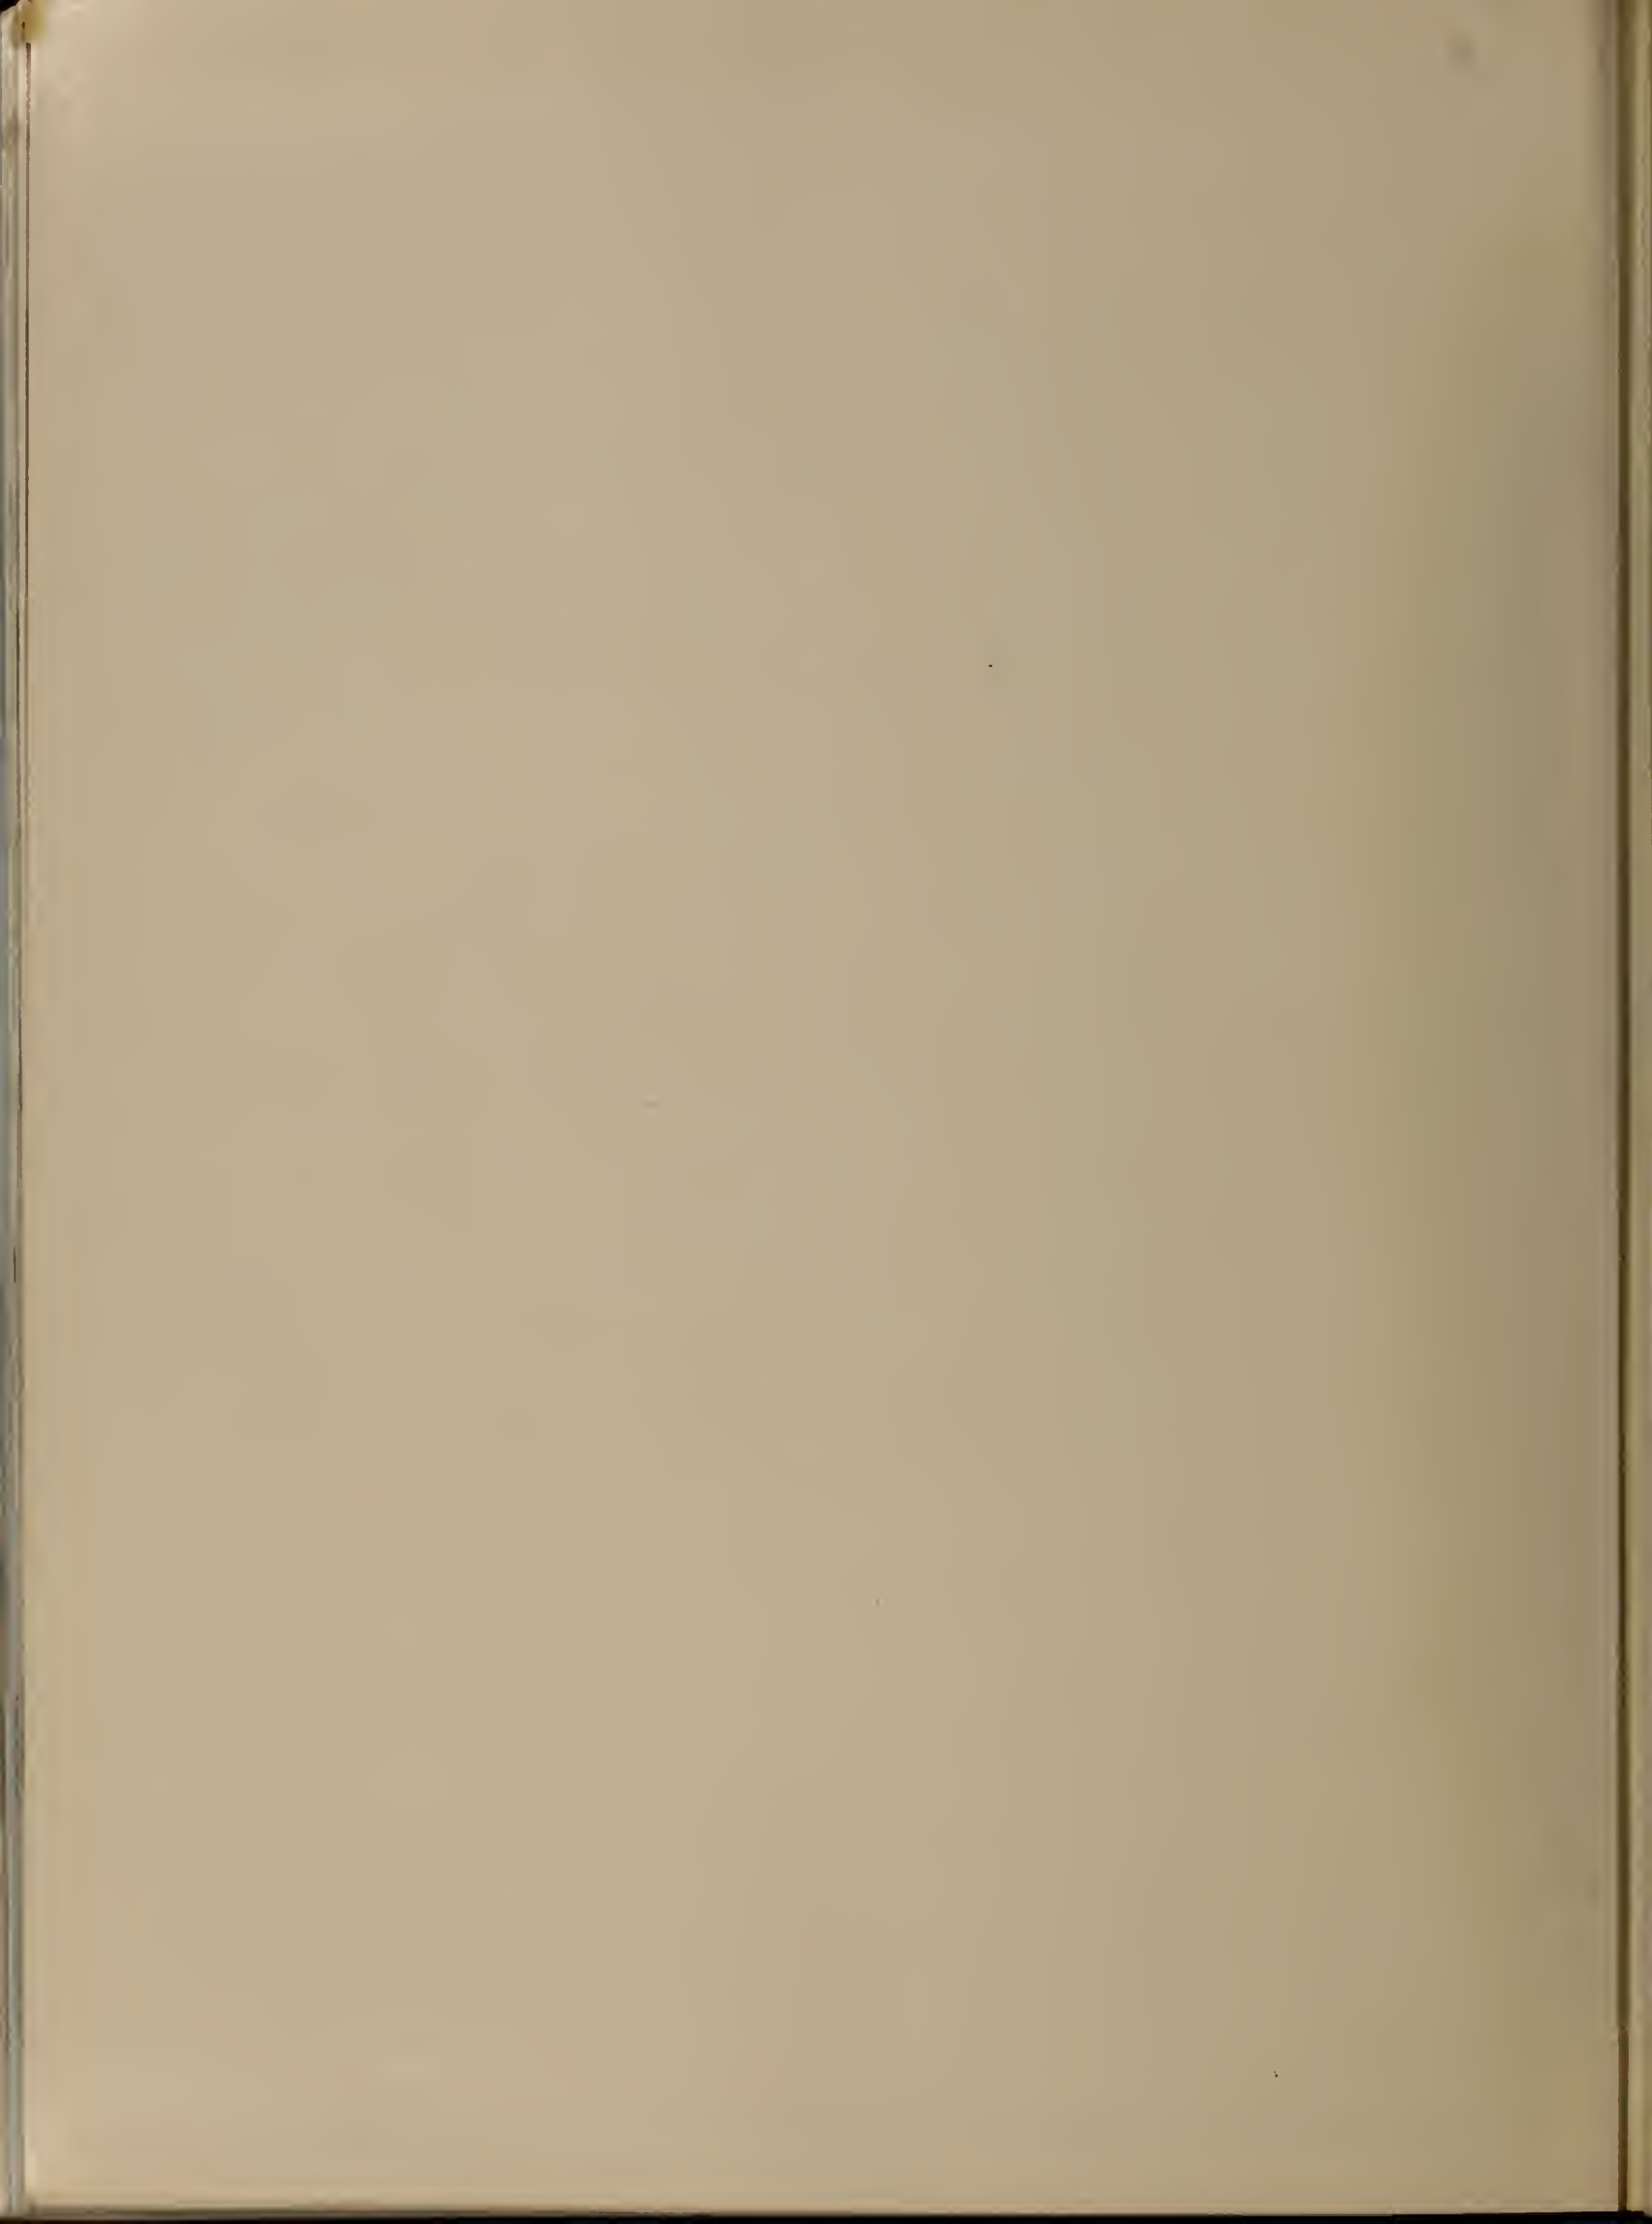

Just as the notes of Taps mark the end of a day, so the words on this last page mark the end of a job . . . a tremendous job which began on a cold winter's afternoon in 1946 when a group of interested students met with Professor John Lane to talk over the possibilities of publishing a yearbook in 1947 . . . a tiresome job which has caused many grade-point ratios to drop and many pairs of eyes to become heavy-circled . . . an exasperating job which has been severely hampered by post-war scarcities and attitudes and by our inexperience . . . a worthwhile job which has given you this 1947 TAPS, Clemson's largest by one hundred pages, and, we hope Clemson's best. At any rate the job is over, and we are glad to put the responsibilities of putting out the 1948 TAPS on the capable shoulders of the rising senior staff.

Much of the credit for the successful production of the 1947 TAPS goes to some people outside of the staff. This yearbook would never have been published without John Lane's guidance and suggestions, without Hamilton Hill's financial and business advice, without Joe Sherman's and Benny Smith's photographs of the 1943-1946 period, and without Bob Davis' energy and interest in his job of getting it off the presses of The R. L. Bryan Company.

And now that all has been said that can be said, it is time for us to lock the door of the TAPS room for the last time and to let the thoughts of meeting the engraver's and printer's deadline and of collecting TAPS space become memories and to think of that not so far off day in June when Dr. Poole will hand us those well-earned diplomas.

Between Us Tigers

BY JOHNNY ERVIN

The main body of this column today will be a commentary upon one of the existing conditions at Clemson. We are surprised by them always, we work among them and meet our obligations to them. After a certain length of time we become accustomed to them, the more unfortunate ones. It could almost be said that they "fall" from our powers of observation.

These observations would apply to the conditions in many of the class rooms in Tillman Hall, Riggs Hall, and the Library.

Possibly the first thing we will notice in these rooms is the floors. A thorough examination will show that the dirt has been there for months, becoming...
